

Christiane Meunier-Clisson is a fully-fledged musician, both in her professional life and in her artistic work. Her varied art, through diverse expression, does not yield to any constraint and deeply reveals a spirit of creation and independence. From her contemplative stance, she paints seascapes reflecting a turbulent ocean into a palette of delicate hues. More finely wrought, stemming from a bolder array of colors, her paintings of undergrowth imbued with light celebrate the glory of a festive Nature. An indisputable charm emanates from pastel and water-color works which Nature is nimbly and accurately conveyed.

In her lacquer works on African mahogany, the artist expresses the full measure of her talent: she turns into a visionary. Inspired from poems or music, these lyrical, rhythmical works reveal a whole world of fantasy here violence and peace, emotion and joy are successively through the symphony of a brilliantly orchestrated palette: fire harmonies, the magic of deep red, blue and gold shades. These compositions are like a shiver of the soul.

Nicole Lamothe in L'Amateur d'Art